9th February 2009, Tokio Marine Asset Management London Limited \("TMAL"\), the Japanese and Asian equities and hedge fund specialist, which officially launched its London business this month, has announced today a further senior appointment in Anji Stewart as Vice President, Business Development.

Commenting on the appointment, Yuichi "Alex" Takayama, CEO of TMAL, said:

"At a time when investors are even keener to find out about the health of their investments, it gives me great pleasure to have someone of Ms Stewart's calibre joining the TMAL team. Her keen client focus, database management skills and exacting attitude will ensure that the Tokio Marine Asset Management group's European clients will continue to be given the first-class service their Japanese and Asian counterparts have come to expect as standard. Anji's appointment, following closely on the heels of Polly Smith's, also further demonstrates TMAL's long-term commitment to the European market."

Anji Stewart added:

"As Tokio Marine Asset Management looks to establish itself as the premier provider of Japanese and Asian investment in the European market, I intend to use my years of accumulated knowledge and experience of the domestic and continental market, which includes the hedge fund space, to help the firm achieve this very attainable goal. Particularly in these tough times, I have no doubt that the Tokio Marine Asset Management group's reputation for excellence in Japan and Asia will be a message that will resonate well amongst the European institutional investment community."
